

From the Desk of Chief Editor

Dear Readers,

Human beings were not such as they are today. It took millions of years to come in present shape and shade. To learn such development of humanities is called Social Science. Here, we start reading of pre-history era up to the modern changes. We learn various religions, their teaching, culture, heritage, books, historical monuments, river, forest, mountains, birds, animals, war peace, social evil and their remedy, difficulties of special social groups and woman, child labour, our internal and external affairs, development in the field of security of the nation, international and national problems and so on.

It teaches us that men, woman, birds, animals, and all other living creatures are the creation of almighty god. We must love them. Love is a virtue. It comes slowly. It develops itself. We neither put it inside nor bring outside through interaction or operation. Already, two world wars have taken place, claiming more than six crore lives and injuring about 100 millions. Social science teaches us, not to indulge in the activities which might be responsible for third war. It is a science, to know about the poor and down trodden. Comparative study of all the religion is the need of the present situation of the world. Economic developments are helpful to humanities. It teaches us cleanness, forestation, environment and pollution.

Social science is mostly related with the Historical, Geographical, Cultural, Economic, Social and constitutional and proceedings prevailing in various countries of the world. Since each country has its run parameter, it differs from country to country and even state to state at the same country. So, Social Science teaches us balance and mixture of the culture and heritage like Konark Mandir, Khajuraho, Ajanta, Elora, Taj Mahal, Redfort, Fatehpur Sikari, Sarnath, Bothgaya, Victous memorial and Bombay VT etc equally.

Don't try to put yourself as superior and other one as inferior. Hitler's theory threw the world in the oven of two world war. In our country, we live in democracy. The need of the time is to develop a new world where peace and prosperity must be seen everywhere.

At IJHSS we are promoting and publishing cross cultural and cross border thoughts on all possible topics which ultimately will bring peace and prosperity in human society. We are sure readers will like the research articles, opinions and reviews etc in this journal and use in their studies.

Scope of IJHSS is vast and optimistic. We invite faculties and research scholars to send high quality research articles related to topics of humanities and social sciences for publication in IJHSS.

We welcome the suggestions and critics of all faculties and research scholars, students and citizens. We will incorporate those ideas in forthcoming issues to make IJHSS more representative and a highly useful learning platform.

Please send your suggestions and critics at editor.ijhss@giapjournals.com
